DEDICATION

We, the class of 1956, dedicate our yearbook to Miss Alice Gorman and Mr. John Gianoulis, two members of the faculty who have been the "guiding lights" through our "Green Years" here at Abington High.

Miss Gorman, familiar to all of us as a French teacher and librarian, has been much more than merely a member of the faculty. Many a time when a student was unable to find a book or write a sentence in French, Miss Gorman came to his rescue. At any time she willingly relinquished a few minutes from her busy day to give advice or help a student whether his problem was personal or academic. We especially wish to thank Miss Gorman for the numerous occasions on which she supported the students' view on a subject when others failed to recognize its value.

Mr. "G" has been the vice-principal, a teacher, and our class advisor during our stay at Abington High. In his French and Latin classes he provided a background of the foreign countries and their inhabitants and many minutes of merry laughter along with the language itself. As our class advisor for the past two years, Mr. "G" guided and aided us in all our projects and problems. Both in and out of school, he took a personal interest in and became a sincere friend of each member of the class, praising our good deeds and reprimanding our mistakes. Mr. "G" will always be remembered in our hearts as one of the most outstanding personalities of our high school years.

We wish to thank these two persons and all the faculty and administrators who have helped us to make our "Green Years" worthwhile and enjoyable, and who will in the future do the same for others.

HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

Graduation is a wonderful experience. For several glorious days one is the focal point of attention at home and at school. All is a vibrant hurly-burly of plans, preparations, and events. Suddenly all is still. The excitement has ebbed away and in its echo there remains a certain nostalgia, but more particularly there is tomorrow.

An Elizabethan poet once observed that "there are a thousand doors to let out life." What of this great expanse that lies before you--the unopened doors of tomorrow? Will you have the courage, the will and the determination to step firmly across the threshold into the unknown that is opportunity, or will you be satisfied to take the train of mediocrity and hope that opportunity will come aboard at some undisclosed way station?

You are the youth of a remarkable era. In your lifetime man has harnessed the atom, engineered jet propulsion, made fabulous advances in medical science, and in a host of ways moved society along the road of progress. At each step of advance opportunity has sprung challengingly to the fore. But it lies beyond grasp unless one purposefully opens the door. Beyond lies excitement and adventure--the excitement and adventure that wells up from a challenge of talents.

In writing to a friend, Cardinal Newman observed that "growth is the only evidence of life". Not growth in the physical sense, but growth from which comes achievement. It is a value factor to which the alert will cling zealously, recognizing in it a rich and satisfying experience. It is a product of the recognition and acceptance of obligation. The Poet Milton said "every citizen has the right and the duty to make his own social effort. He is challenged by God himself to help in the great purpose of organizing a dignified and productive society." Does it not reasonably follow, therefore, that achievement rests on a foundation of obligation and duty--obligation to self and to society? Thus, man can stand with dignity only when he has exercised his talents and accepted his responsibilities to the fullest.

It is my hope and wish that you will open the door leading to opportunity with will and determination. This is strength. To follow any other road is weakness and leads but to frustration and is without reward.

When the 1956 edition of "The Green Years" reaches your hands, I will have completed my service as your Principal. I bring with me, indelibly stamped in memory, a rich and satisfying record of pleasant associations with student and faculty alike. I can but wish that success will mark your way, and that happiness will come to you in the same full measure as it has to me during my tenure as Principal of Abington High School.

CLASS HISTORY

In September, 1951, the seventh graders from Centre, North, and West Abington, along with the others who did not come from anywhere in particular, assembled in the auditorium of this establishment for the furtherance of knowledge for its inhabitants, to form the illustrious, fiery, genteel, ambitious, talented, comical, outstanding, never to be forgotten, Class of 1956.

The characters, and I mean characters, who were chosen to lead this dramatic group were: Richard DeCoste, President; Judy Lydon, Vice President; Nancy Cole, Secretary; and Richard Briggs, Treasurer.

September, 1952, saw the beginning of school and the arrival of the new Freshman Class. Its officers were Richard Wight, President; Judy Lydon, Vice President; Nancy Piper, Secretary; and Jean Patten, Treasurer.

For the first three or four weeks the ancient history classes were in a state of awe, wondering about the new teacher, who, by the way, was still at Camp Drum. With the arrival of Mr., now Professor, George A. Panichas, the whole school went into an uproar. Most Abingtonians, sheltered from the outside world, had never met a "walking library." We just could not understand how all that knowledge could be held in one head. School expenses rose at that time, too, due to a mysterious destruction of rulers, yardsticks, and pointers.

The annual Freshman Frolic took place on Valentine's Day. Because neither Whitman nor Rockland were holding dances that night, there was a good crowd, the profit of $70 setting a record.

In the spring of 1953, the people of Abington suffered a great loss with the passing of Mr. Charles M. Frolio, our principal. Although we had known him only a short time we valued highly his friendship.

The Class of 1956 returned to Abington High in September, 1953, to begin their Sophomore year. Once again this unusual group elected four upright, outstanding leaders from the list of candidates. They were: Charles Richard Davis, better known as "Chink," President; David Lee "No girl will ever get my ring" Johnson, as Vice President; Nancy Jayne Piper, a reknowned long-hair lover, as Secretary; and Richard Stanley "Honest Briggsie" Briggs, Treasurer.

With the opening of school, came a new principal, Mr. Haskell, who was well liked by all the students.

Then in biology class, which had become compulsory, we began hearing about Mr. Gregory's pride and joy, the Science Fair. That was the year he began his voluntary method of conscripting contestants -- do a project or flunk! By April 9th, he was so proud that the buttons were popping off his shirt, because all three grand prize winners were Sophomores! The lucky people were as follows: Nancy Piper, Richard DeCoste and David Bean, and Skip Collingwood and Bird Ashworth.

The annual Sophomore Hop was a sock hop held in February. This was the dance to which almost every sophomore went stag!

The site of our class outing was Morton's Park, in Plymouth. The most exciting event of all was Bird's attempt to swan dive into three feet of water. His reward for that act of bravery was a broken nose! Of course, that was only about the third time in a year that he had broken his nose. This outing was the wettest of all, because, in addition to the actual swimming, we had a "throwing Mazola and sun tan lotion at each other" party. Remember, Russ?

We were finally over the hump. Upon our return in the fall we would be upperclassmen. What a feeling!

Now we were nearing the top, for upon our return to A. H. S. in the fall of 1954, we were Juniors. As upperclassmen, we started off with a bang by electing Dave Johnson, President; Charlie Davis, Vice President; Nancy Piper, Secretary; and Dickie Briggs, Treasurer. The students were blessed that year with a new principal, Dr. Robert E. Hansen who was to remain with us for a period of a year and a half.

This was the year our football team had the glorious distinction of beating Rockland High 13-7.

Since we were a very ambitious class, we immediately started planning our Junior Prom. The decorations and planning were under the direction of Nancy Piper. Mr. "G" suggested "Evening in Paris" for the theme. As the theme sounded lavish, so were we; we spent almost as much money on decorations as we made on the dance. The queen of the prom was Sheila Kelly. Her dashing king was Russ Laubinger. Being an extravagant class we went to Cain's Restaurant. There were two mishaps that evening: Dave Bean found he had a flat tire, and leaving Cain's Charlie Davis's car would not start. Helpful Jim Spillane pushed the car, but to no avail. As a result, Charlie and Jerry went with Jim and his date.

The Seniors were finally leaving A. H. S. The Juniors were "hepped up," because the next year we would be Seniors. On the day of graduation Charlie Davis, driving Charlie Hohman's truck, knocked down a telephone pole and completely demolished the truck.

One of our beloved teachers, Miss Bessis Hart, was leaving us. As she was very fond of the Junior Class, we held a party on the last day of school. Dave Johnson presented her with a beautiful locket.

In planning the class outing, the Juniors decided to go in cars instead of a bus. Because everyone went to a different beach, the excursion was a bit of a flop.

In September, 1955, we had reached our goal -- Seniors at last. Class officers were: Dave Johnson, President; Dave Bean, Vice President; Nancy Piper, Secretary; and Dick Briggs, Treasurer.

At the first meeting, the VOLUNTARY Physics Club undertook the chore of electing officers. In the election of president, everyone voted for himself, except four students who decided to vote for somebody else, with the result that Yogurt Anderson was chosen president. For the office of vice president, Mr. Gregory won almost unanimously. Three or four banded together to elect Dave Bean. For the office of secretary, it was neck and neck between Nancy Cole and Frank Whiting. Nancy Cole was the victor. In the race for treasurer, dizzy, dawdling, deft, diabolic, dextrous, dilly-dallying, dynamic, debonair, drowsy, dazzling, decadent, daffy, dense, delirious, doodling, Duffo McDonough won in a landslide.

Abington High said hello to four new teachers, Mr. John McCue, Mr. James Trefry, Miss Judith Mahoney, and Mrs. Alice Trask.

Rockland thought they were smart by taking one leg of our goal posts away. We had to think of a way to get back at them. So-o-o some genius decided that we should tear down their whole goal posts. The Tuesday of that week, thirty-five boys met in front of Owen's with four cars. With pipe cutters they charged over to Rockland and cut down their goal posts, leaving only two stumps in the ground. They returned to a classmate's gas station and divided the posts into four-inch pieces, which were distributed throughout school.

The cheerleaders sponsored a dance in honor of Mike Harlow, who was leaving us. He was presented a trophy and a wallet. The whole school was disappointed, because it was losing such a fine student and outstanding athlete.

Two days after Thanksgiving, the Abington Alumni Association held a meeting and a dance at which they honored Miss Annie A. Chadbourne and Miss Alice Gorman, who were presented bouquets of flowers by the student body.

Because the Seniors had no Thanksgiving Dance, a Winter Carnival was held on January 21, 1956. Snowflakes, balloons, and winter scenes delightfully decorated the auditorium. Mr. Gianoulis and Helen, his fiancée, were chaperons. The orchestra, the Lucky Stars, chose Mary Jane MacLaren as queen. Her king was "Panicky" Baker. Unable to find a place to eat, the Senior group separated and finally ended up at various Howard Johnsons'.

The Class of 1956 presented its play, "Turn Back the Clock," on March 16th. Leads in the play were Diane Hoyt and Bill Richards. Others in the cast were Bev Chapman, Sheila Kelly, Meriel Pratt, Nancy Piper, Jean Edwards, Maureen Dalton, Ginny Clements, Gerhard Fliege, Charlie Davis, Skip Collingwood, Bird Ashworth, Larry Anderson, Dave Johnson; prompter, Jean Patten; prop managers, Audrey Jenks and Nancy Cole; and stage managers Steve Dunlap and Russ Laubinger.

Throughout the school year, the yearbook staff was working feverishly to send out the contents in time to be printed. This select group spent many months in preparing the best yearbook Abington has ever seen! Under the very able direction of Dick DeCoste, the staff consisting of Dave Bean, Claire Doherty, Judy Lydon, Nancy Cole and Nancy Piper, with the help of their various committees, did a wonderful piece of work.

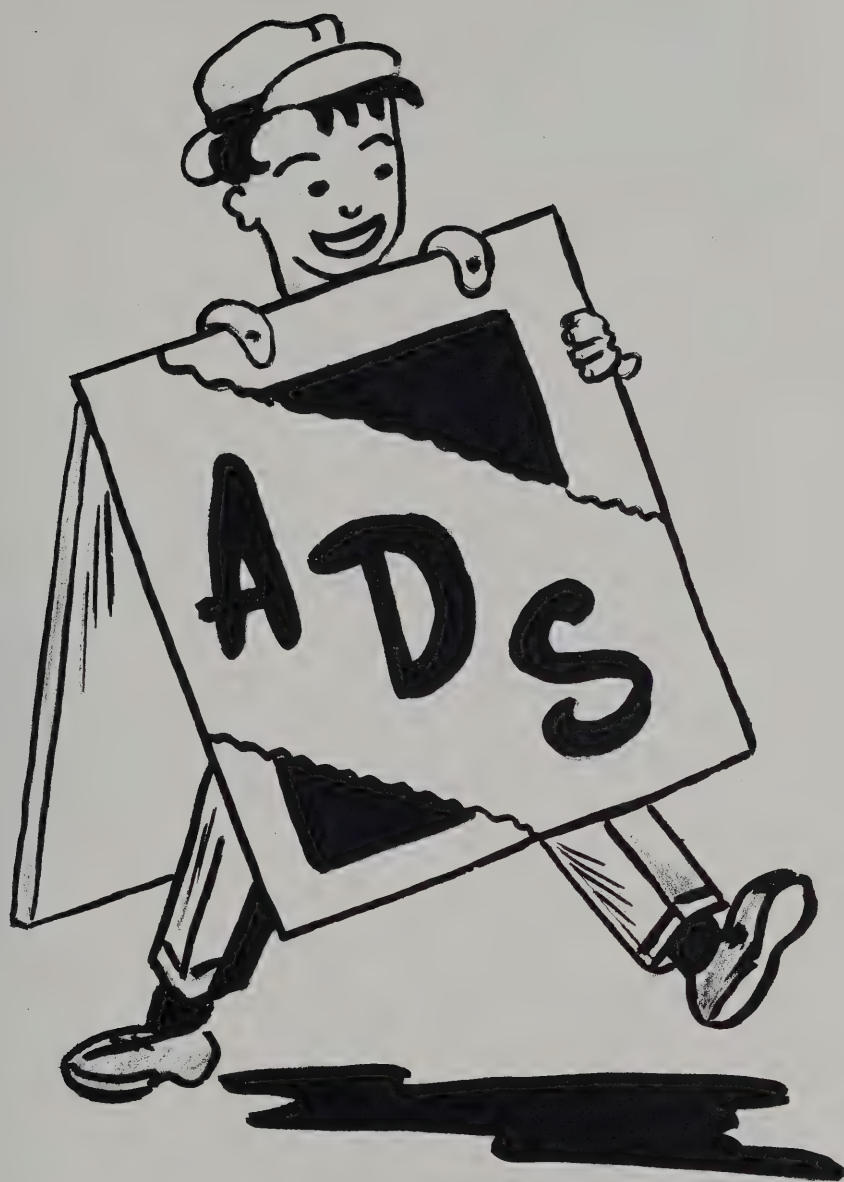

With Class Day, Graduation, and Reception, we have come to the end of our stay at Abington High School. The world is ours now. Walking into the future through those old familiar doors, we will carry with us the wonderful memories of the years that the class of 1956 spent together.
